A Much Drended Fly The man eating fly of Central Amer-ica inhabits the low lying coast regions and is much dreaded by the na-tives for the fearful results which fol-low its sting. Naturalists call it Lucilia hominivora. The average speci-men is about a third of an inch long. It has a big head, with the eyes on to has a big head, which has a big head, who has a big head, who have been the big head, with purple has abdomen dark blue with purple bands, its legs black, its wings unusually big, and they produce a continuous and loud buzzing when in motion.

The person bitten by this fly gets a disease called mylasis. It generally begins with an itching of the nose; then that organ swells and bleeds, next it becomes ulcerated, and in these ul-cers may be found the larvæ of the fly. The whole face becomes swollen; ery-sipelas sets in, followed by meningitis and death. One man I knew, said a traveler in that country, shot himself after he had been bitten rather than face the tortures he knew were certain. Cure is difficult. Subcutaneous injections of chloroform sometimes do good, but as often fall. One man I heard of was cured by lemon juice injected into his blood.

There is no better antidote for de-spondency than to take a measure of your own community as it was ten years ago and as it is today, unless you live in an unrepresentative and stagnant community. You will be likely to find the roads or the streets better than they were, the railroad service, the postal service, possibly even the telegraph and the telephone service better. You will observe better houses, more attractive grounds. The people are better clad or more are well clad. Inside their houses you will find more books or, better, more bathrooms, better lights and better furniture. A larger proportion of children and youth are receiving good training at better schools. All this means more than prosperous years. It means a higher level of life and a stronger ambition. The well being of the people of the United States is rising higher and especially is it diffusing itself wider.

Life is constantly becoming more comfortable and more cheerful as well as longer and safer, leading to better conditions for intellectual growth and so-cial development.—World's Work.

Couldn't Be Mistaken.

A Derbyshire squire recently invited some London friends down for a little shooting. One of the sportsmen, after shooting for three hours without success, was considerably annoyed by the keeper in attendance on him repeating after every miss, "I can't be mistaken,

"For goodness sake, be quiet!" he at last shouted. "What do you mean with your everlasting 'I can't be mis-"Well, sir," was the reply, "if you

'adn't put a few shots through my 'at, peppered both my legs for me and popped a full charge into my right foot I'm blowed if I shouldn't think as 'ow you was a-firin' with blank cartridges!"-London Answers.

'Royal Mascots.

Most of the sovereign houses of Europe possess one or more relics which they regard as mascots. The house of Bonaparte possesses the boots and lit-tle hat of Napoleon I. The Hohenzolterns preserve plously the gray leather breeches worn by the Burggrave Frederic when he entered his margraviate of Brandenburg. There is Soud the cane which Frederick the Great carried at the battle of Rosbach. The Romanoffs cherish the carpenter's tools of Peter the Great, and the fetich of the Hapsburgs is the shoe which the horse of Count Rudolph cast at the moment when the envoys from the reichstag announced to him his election as German emperor.

Soapsuds Are Valuable.

Few persons knew how very useful soapsuds prove when employed as manure. Applied to the roots of vines, fruit trees, roses, etc., they impart a wigor and a rapidity of growth which are perfectly surprising. No one who is so lucky as to have a garden should waste this valuable form of manure. It is an excellent plan to have a large tub and put the soapsuds and dirty water into it till required upon the

John Edgar, of Germantown, Cal. John Edgar, of Germantown, Cal. "I was able to be around but constantly suffered. I tried everything I could hear of and at last was told to try Chamberlain's Pain Balm, which I did and was immediately relieved and in a short time cured, and I am bappy to say it has not since returned." Why not to use this liniment and get well? It is for sale by Richard Gibson, Druggist.

Like a Drowning Man,

'Five years ago a disease the dectors called dyspepsia took such hold of me that I could scarcely go," writes Geo. 8. Marsh, well-known attorney of hocons, Tex. "I took quantities of pepsin and other medicines but wothing helped me. As a drowning man grabe at a straw I grabbe at Kodel. I felt an improvement at once and after a few bottles am sound and well."
